Dear James Foreman,

I am writing this letter to thank you and to recognize your outstanding work in the load out, logistical organization and safe set up of our recent purchase of multiple pieces of equipment from auction.

Your professional assistance with such a critical part of the overall process of bringing in multiple capital assets, made the experience much less cumbersome for those of us involved. Communication with any outside service chosen by the company is the key to an overall successful outcome. You were engaged, ready to answer questions, and easy to get ahold of when we needed a direct reply. Above all, you provided a safe, cautious delivery which is our top priority in every project.

James Foreman's performance and execution as a heavy equipment mover, is held in high regard within our organization. Everything went smoothly, and we will definitely call upon you again for our future industrial equipment rigging, freight and delivery needs at Malco Products.

Sincerely,

Kristi Stanwick
